What Are the Windows Live Hotmail POP3 Settings?

By Heinz Tschabitscher

Search the POP3 settings of your email provider for example hotmail

Go to email.about.com

Tutorial about Email settings in Craigslist Empire Poster

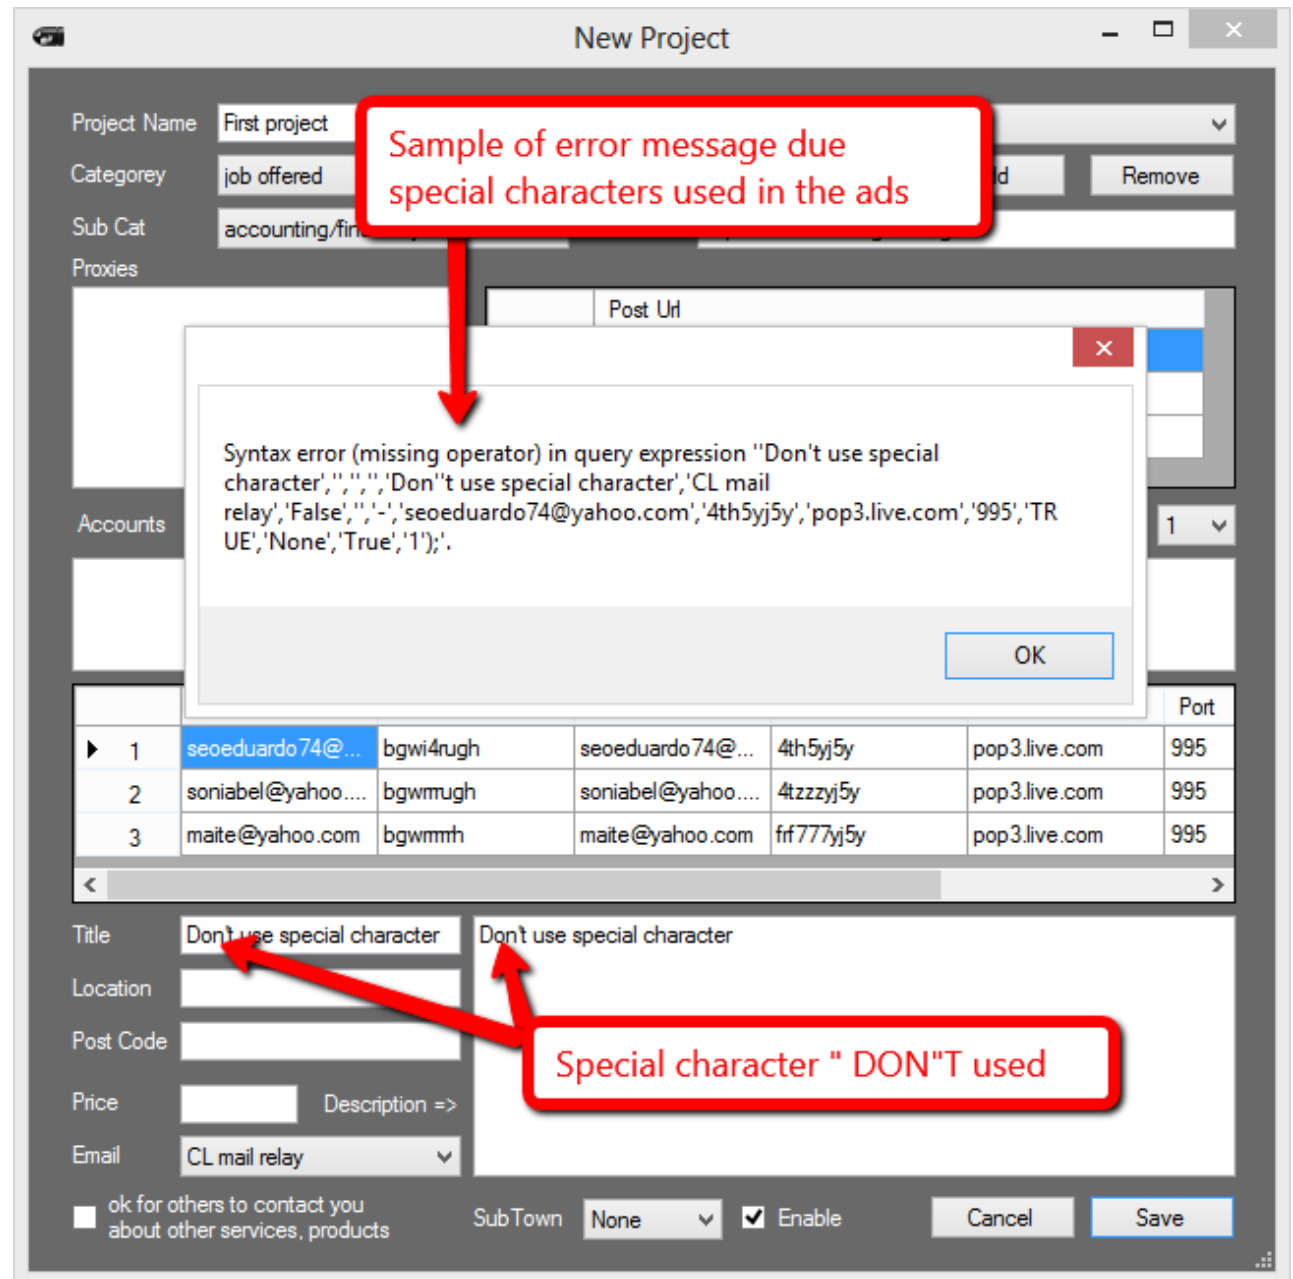

This is the email settings info

- Windows Live Hotmail POP server address: pop3.live.com
- Windows Live Hotmail POP user name: Your full Windows Live Hotmail email address ("me@hotmail.com" or "me@live.com" for example)
- Windows Live Hotmail POP password: Your Windows Live Hotmail password
- Windows Live Hotmail POP port: 995
- Windows Live Hotmail POP TLS/SSL required: yes

Some email provider like yahoo has some limitations in the POP3. make sure your email provider support POP3.

Firefox automatically sends some data to Mozilla so that we can improve your experience.

The screenshot shows a Firefox browser window displaying an article on About.com. The article title is "What Are the Windows Live Hotmail POP3 Settings?". The author is Heinz Tschabitscher. The article content includes a list of POP3 settings for Windows Live Hotmail: server address (pop3.live.com), user name (full email address), password (Windows Live Hotmail password), port (995), and TLS/SSL requirement (yes). There are several red callout boxes with arrows pointing to specific parts of the page: one pointing to the URL bar (containing "email.about.com"), one pointing to the search bar (containing "Search"), one pointing to the article title, one pointing to the list of settings, and one pointing to an advertisement for "Dem Moore Looks 29". The browser's address bar shows the URL "https://gator3250.host...". The browser's menu bar includes "File", "Edit", "View", "History", "Bookmarks", and "Tools". The browser's status bar at the bottom says "Firefox automatically sends some data to Mozilla so that we can improve your experience." and "Choose What I Share".
